IHEA has a YouTube channel that contains a huge inventory of past webinars, congress plenaries, congress sessions and more. The channel contains over 230 videos and various playlists and is open to members and non-members for viewing. We encourage you to browse the catalog and share relevant videos in your network.

Happy Holidays from IHEA!

Wishing all of our members around the world a wonderful and joyous holiday season and a prosperous 2024! We thank everyone for their contributions this year that made our 2023 Congress and other association activities a great success.

Reminder: Arrow Award and Student Paper Prize Nominations

IHEA's Arrow Award was created to recognize excellence in the field of health economics with the Award presented to the author or authors of the paper judged to be the best paper published in health economics in English in the award year. The Award was set up in honour of the late Kenneth Arrow and in recognition of the influence of his seminal paper from 1963 "Uncertainty and the welfare economics of medical care". Professor Arrow was involved in the creation of the Award and he presented the inaugural prize in 1993.

Nominations for the Arrow Award from members of IHEA are welcome and should be sent to the Chair of the Committee (Tor Iversen: tor.iversen@medisin.uio.no), accompanied by a copy of the paper and a brief cover letter.

Deadline: Wednesday January 17, 2024

The International Health Economics Association (IHEA) is pleased to invite nominations for the Annual Student Paper Prize in Health Economics. Nominations should include a brief letter of nomination (250 words max) and a copy of the paper (preferably .pdf). As an international association, IHEA highly encourages those from around the globe to share this call with their networks and submit their papers for consideration.

Papers will be reviewed by an International Committee chaired by Professor Tinna Laufey Ásgeirsdóttir.

Please submit nominations, and address queries, by email to: ta@hi.is

Deadline: Thursday January 18, 2024

More information on both awards and their submission details can be found here.

IHEA will be at ASSA!

IHEA will be represented at the Allied Social Science Associations Annual meeting in San Antonio on January 5-7, 2024. We will be hosting two organised sessions and co-hosting a reception with the American Society of Health Economists (ASHEcon).

Details on our two sessions are below:

- Saturday, January 6, 2024 at 8:00-10:00 am (CST): Economics of Health Care, Health Investments, and Risky Behaviors
- Saturday, January 6, 2024 at 2:30-4:30 pm (CST): Randomized Experiments Worldwide with Implications for Health

The ASHEcon/IHEA happy hour will take place on Saturday, January 6 from 6:30 – 7:30 pm. If you plan to attend you can RSVP here.
